

FanFic

Stardate 2259.3

Lieutenant Uhura's nipples glistened in the shower. She signed and playfully brushed the soap and cloth over them. A true shower was a luxury on a starship and she was determined to luxuriate in this one as long as possible. She used the cloth to slowly, carefully wash every inch of her wet, naked body.

She paused for a moment while toweling herself off, glancing in the mirror. She smiled wistfully at her naked young body in the fullness of womanhood. And here she was, cooped up on a starship with nobody to appreciate her.

Oh sure, the other officers of the Enterprise appreciated her mind, but not her body. What an odd complaint. She could think of a half dozen of her friends who would love to be in her shoes, well if she were wearing shoes.

But the officers just didn't see her as an object of love. Mister Spock was only interested in other Vulcans, and then only once every seven years. Scotty was nice enough but was shy around women. Doctor McCoy was old enough to be her father.

And Captain Kirk. Oh, they once shared a wonderful kiss, but he was more interested in his conquests, the women of the various planets and exotic species they encountered. He had alien fever and he had it bad.

Ah well, maybe it would be her turn to meet the hot alien this time. She was going on an away mission. In fact, she needed to report to the transporter room in just about an hour! Uhura quickly finished toweling herself off and got dressed.

She still had a bit of time until she had to be in the transporter, so she took the opportunity to review the assignment. It seemed pretty straightforward. The Enterprise had already made its slingshot around the sun and entered Earth's past. In a little less than an hour, the landing party would beam down dressed in early twenty first century clothing and experience and report on a strange historical phenomenon that Starfleet wants more information about.

There wasn't much more to the mission than that, but Uhura was hoping there would be time to fraternize with the locals. As she finished putting on the last touches of her 21st century outfit, she checked herself out in the mirror and said, "girl, you need a good ... fraternization."

There was a bit of trouble in the transporter room as Dr. McCoy tried to get Captain Kirk's attention about something. "Jim, this is important. I think it is something you should hear."

"Not now, Bones. We have less than two hours before whatever the event that we need to observe happens. Tell me after we beam down and get situation."

"But."

Kirk just waived off his chief medical officer and stepped on the transporter pad. The four officers followed suit. “Five to beam down Mister Kirby.” The world shimmered, disappeared and came back into focus. And then they were in New Jersey.

Lieutenant Uhura immediately tried to contact the Enterprise and to set up a communications net with the landing party, but got nothing but static. Even pushing the gain up to maximum gained nothing.

“Captain,” said Uhura, “I think there is something blocking the communicators.”

“The tricorders aren’t working either Captain,” replied Mr. Spock.

Scotty looked his over. “I believe that I can get them working, but I’m going to need help.”

Captain Kirk looked over his crew. “Very Good. Scotty, Uhuru, Spock, get those tricorders and communicators working. Bones, come with me.”

And with that, Captain Kirk and his medical officer walked over to the group of strangers who had just arrived.

Spock said to Mister Scott, “I believe we need to find certain materials before we can fix these tricorders.” Scott replied, “aye, but I think they are being jammed by an external source. We will need to explore that more as well.” Uhura added, “yes, I think if the three of us work together, we can easily get everything working again.” But she couldn’t help making hopeful glances at the newcomers. Maybe they would provide some needed distraction.

The Others

Captain Kirk: He can be a bit strong headed, but he is an excellent Captain. Perhaps you have just the tiniest crush on him.

Mr. Spock: The First Officer of the Enterprise. As a Vulcan, he can be harsh because he tries to hide his human emotions.

Dr. Leonard “Bones” McCoy: The Chief Medical Officer of the Enterprise. He can be crotchety, but he is an excellent surgeon.

Montgomery “Scotty” Scott: The chief engineer. There’s nobody who can wrangle an engine better than Scotty.

You haven’t met the others yet, but here are some first impressions.

Buffy Summers: She seems to have captured Captain Kirk’s attention, but why is she here all the way from Sunnydale?

Alexander "Xander" LaVelle Harris: He seems like a nice enough kid.

Willow Rosenberg: She seems nice enough, but you've noticed her looking at you kinda strangely.

Rupert Giles: He seems a little full of himself, but oh girl you love that accent.

Angel: He seems dangerous. And... is he sparkling in the sunlight? How strange. But he is smoking hot. You'd do him. Oh yeah!

Professor Severus Snape: He seems a little bit creepy and you have caught him staring at you as well.

Harry Potter: He seems like a nice enough kid, even though he's brooding about something. There's something about him you can't quite put your finger on.

Hermione Granger: She's smart as a whip. And she also seems to have some sort of way of catching you attention for reasons you can't explain.

Ronald Weasley: Poor kid's got it bad for Hermione, but he's too much of a nerd to do anything about it..

Draco Malfoy: He seems conflicted about something, but you aren't sure what. He's also interesting in an indescribable way.

Mary Sue Johnson: She is quite smart and may be someone you can work with to get communications working.

Skills and Stuff

Combat: Average

Research: Above Average

Magic: Excellent*

Engineering: Excellent

Sex: Above Average

Versatile: You may act as if your skill level in something is Excellent once per skill:

Combat ☐, Research ☐, Sex ☐

Magic: You can cast spells.*

*You start the game unaware of these abilities.